Baaw Ter's Trip to Bangkok Appeals Court

(Your Prayers Are Double-Urgently Needed)

By Ron Myers

Dear Praying Friends,

My Thai-Isan co-worker, Baaw Ter, just-recently contacted me saying he is headed to Bangkok now to appear before the Court of Appeals tomorrow morning... it's tomorrow morning there now, July 3, 2019. He desperately needs our prayers now!

If you recall his predicament... Baaw Ter cosigned a sizable check for an acquaintance in good faith. It turns out the friend's resources were depleted before the check was cashed, leaving Baaw Ter "holding the bag," per se, as sole cosigner while the check owners fled the country to Hong Kong to avoid arrest, then to Vietnam. According to Baaw Ter, they are presently trying to raise money to cover the check. Let's also pray that they'll be able to do so.

Here's our conversation:

Baaw Ter: I will go to Bangkok tomorrow to file an appeal.

Ron: We here are all praying for you.

Baaw Ter: Amen; I'm hoping the court will understand and sympathize with my dilemma

Ron: And not have any jail time either...

Baaw Ter: Amen, God is great!

Ron: It's after midnight here. I'll send out your prayer request tomorrow for leniency from the Appeals Court.

Baaw Ter: I'm waiting for the plane to Bangkok right now. It's been raining steadily here for two days.

Ron: Please keep us up to date about your situation.

Baaw Ter: Yes, I will

Ron: Thank you; love you in the Lord.

Baaw Ter: Praise the Lord
